RIFORMA DELLA MAGISTRATURA ONORARIA

Government disattends the delegation and does not put in a position to find another job

The legislative decree approved yesterday in preliminary session by the Council of Ministers, in reality has not completed the implementation of the delegating law n. 57/2016. With article 1 letter g), in fact, the law delegated the Government to regulate the procedure of transfer to another office.

The implementing decree, instead, has not provided, with consequences even more dramatic on the future working conditions of honorary magistrates due to the regime of incompatibility between the profession of lawyer and the exercise of honorary jurisdictional functions (made even more stringent by the reform). Not being able to transfer to another judicial office, they will not even be able to practice the forensic profession, because to do so they would have to open a law firm in distant locations from their residence, without any concrete possibility of starting the activity.
